The Clark Flyer June 2008

Well, another month has gone by and it's almost the official start of summer. That means that we should be having lots of good flying weather ahead. The club has had several fun-fly's at the field and there has been lots of fun enjoyed by all in attendance. The last few times I've been out to the field, I have been delighted to see more of the projects coming out to get some air time in.

I received an email from Outdoor Club News. They are offering us a free listing on their website. This free listing carries the club logo with a description of the club and a free link to our website. They are recruiting Remote Control clubs to list on their website, so that they may host us in their new magazine, Outdoor Club

News. The magazine made for and about outdoor clubs. I took a look at the site and it has mostly hunting and guns clubs on it, but there were a couple of RC clubs on it. This is the WEB site "outdoorclubnews.com", have a look. See if it is something we would want to do as a club. I will bring it up at the next club meeting for discussion.

Until next time; keep those projects coming. Speaking of projects, here is my latest. I just flew it and I think it is going to make a fine addition to my fleet.
